Backed by Quad-C Management, a middle-market private equity firm, the company serves the Fortune 100—offering industry-leading cyber-discovery services, enterprise managed solutions, and legal discovery offerings to more than 500 of the world's leading corporations and law firms in North America and Europe. HaystackID has more than 900 TB of data under management post-deal, and a remote review offering supported by a proprietary database of 18,000 vetted, qualified attorneys.

"Dave has a strong history of success as a chief financial officer with PE-backed portfolio companies, where he helped companies achieve rapid growth and orchestrated major sales and acquisitions," says Joanna Chang, Renovata & Company partner. He brings these considerable skills and experiences to HaystackID during a time of growth."

Prior to joining HaystackID, Murray was chief financial officer at several other companies: Suvoda, a pharmaceuticals company; LiquidHub, a technology solution integration firm; and Longview Solutions Inc., a venture-backed global provider of corporate performance management solutions to large enterprises. Before that, he spent three years with Shared Medical Systems as the international controller, based in Madrid, Spain. Murray started his career with Arthur Andersen and spent eight years with the firm in various roles ending with manager, where he specialized in publicly traded clients in the technology, distribution and manufactured products sectors.
